

Customer-centric agility

IBApplications (IBApps) delivers an agile set of cloud-based software services to enable insurtech, spin-off and new ventures of traditional insurance companies facilitate change. Mondux recognizes that, within the insurance market, the only constant is change – which is why they selected IBSuite as their new solution.

“One of the many reasons why we chose to work together with IBA is that we relate to our clients in the same way,” Dennis Landbo Nielsen went on to say. “Complexity in differentiating insurance products is increasing, which means an organization like requires a software solution that is adaptable and agile.”

Due to their business success, Mondux was acquired by Gjensidige Forsikring Asa Norge in 2015 becoming part of one of the largest insurance companies in Scandinavia with around 800,000 customers. Despite the organizational change, Mondux' solution did not.

“One of the many reasons why we chose to work together with IBA is that we relate to our clients in the same way.”
